Prayer points

Pollution

WEC International has teams ministering in three 'mega cities' in Eastern Asia. Air pollution can be a problem and the teams say that they enjoy it when there are strong winds to blow the pollution away. Please pray for God to send the wind of his Holy Spirit into the hearts of city people, to show them the 'pollution' of sin and reveal the Saviour. Our teams have been encouraged to see a few small groups formed but the work is slow and difficult. (WEC International - September 2017)

Buriad Mongols

A spring training school run by our Mongolian Missions partners is currently in full swing with 13 students. The term ends in mid-May. They have plans in place to reach out to Buriad Mongols living outside Mongolia. Scouting trips have already taken place for this new work to communities in both China and Russia. The Buriads (Buryats) are a Mongolian sub-group that has emigrated and resettled elsewhere over time. They are the primary people group now in Siberia. Please pray this month for the Buriad people, scattered in some of the world's least-hospitable environments. (AsiaLink - May 2016)

Blanketed with the gospel

Today, there are about 40,000 believers worshiping in Mongolia in around 600 churches across the country. The challenge is that the 40,000 believers represent only about 1.2% of the nation's population. That's why Reach Beyond and FEBC have committed to put a Christian radio station in each of the country's 21 provinces, blanketing the nation with gospel broadcasts. There are currently six partner stations on the air, pray as they plan to add another three stations this year, and for a good response to the current broadcasts. (Reach Beyond - March 2015)

Tremendous growth

From as few as four Christians in 1989, the Mongolian Church now has more than 40,000 members. It has been a steep learning curve but Mongolians are now running many former foreign-led ministries, are producing their own worship music and theological books and developing national effective leadership. There are also Mongolian missionaries serving both within and beyond their own borders - all within one generation. There is so much to give thanks for! Pray for many more Biblically astute leaders as well as for breakthroughs amongst the unreached peoples such as the Muslim Kazakhs and the Nomads. (AsiaLink - July 2014)

Expectant mothers

Pray for mothers in Mongolia, the least-densely populated country in the world. For expectant mothers living in the remote steppe in the far west, to have an ultrasound scan often involves squeezing into the back of a van for a 100-hour roundtrip to the capital Ulaanbaatar along non-existent roads, navigating around 13,000 foot high mountains. When medical emergencies arise with babies, getting access to the medical services is that much more challenging. MAF's aircraft support mothers through organisations such as Reaching the Light and Nurses Heart to Heart. Pray that healthcare and infrastructure will improve in this vast country, and for mothers and young families isolated from healthcare when it's urgently needed. (Mission Aviation Fellowship UK - May 2013)

An ambitious goal

The Mongolian Church has a goal to have 10% of the population as active church members by the year 2020. This means approximately 3,000 more churches need to be planted. Although this is an ambitious goal, Mongolian church leaders are committed to playing their part to bring it about. Pray for our partners who have taken on the task of developing provincial leaders to oversee church planting and pastor the pastors. Additionally, they will provide small loans to help rural churches develop small businesses that will generate an income for church planters to release them to carry out this work. (AsiaLink - May 2013)

Distributing textbooks

In Mongolia, particularly in the countryside, students often lack the necessary textbooks for their courses. This is an even bigger problem for students who are poor. It is not unusual for two or three students to share one textbook and sometimes they are forced to transcribe all their lectures because there are no textbooks at all. This can leave students at risk of being inadequately educated which in turn affects their capacity to graduate, obtain a job and work competently in their field of study. Thank God for a new church initiative to distribute textbooks to primary, middle, high schools and one college as well as providing more readable blackboards. Pray that these tools will help students to receive a good education. (Serving In Mission - July 2012)
